David Mamet's AN INTERVIEW is an oblique, mystifying interrogation. A sleazy lawyer is forced to answer difficult questions and to admit the truth about his life and career. The why and where of the interrogation provide a surprise ending to this brilliant twenty minute comedy.

What was supposed to be the best day of Mimsey Hubley's life soon takes a turn for the worst when Mimsey locks herself in the Plaza Hotel bathroom two minutes before her wedding. Neil Simon's PLAZA SUITE keeps you laughing as you ponder: Is Mimsey really "better off in the bathroom?"

"Mirror Mirror on the wall, who's the fairest of them all?" When the mirror's response is the stepdaughter, the stepmother will stop at nothing to change the answer in Bruce Kane's MIRROR MIRROR.

Five strangers wake up on a bare stage with no recollection of how they ended up there. The only exit requirew jumping off the stage into a strange unknown darkness. They must work together to figure out why they've been put there, but they never suspect the truth. See if you can figure it out in Rob Dune's EXIT.
